You told me you loved me
But it never really felt that way
Just another game you played
It always seemed to make me stay
You said you adored me
But you never looked me in the eyes
You called me on the lonley nights
Tossed me roses and turned out the lights

Do you have a heart?
You seem so artificial
It tears me apart
The way you seem the world to me
You know you're no work of art
Still you manage to get to me
But don't even start
To tell me things that you don't mean

"Love", love is just a word
A used up tone
Unless it's heartfelt
"Love", love is just a noun
An empty sound
Unless it's heartfelt

..... you just told me
.....
At least your kisses do not sting

As much as all the words that you don't mean
Maybe you should just leave me
I've she'd so many tears for you
I've wasted all these years on you
I was always so sincere with you

Do you have a heart?
You seem so artificial
It tears me apart
The way you seem the world to me
You know you're no work of art
Still you manage to get to me
But don't even start

To tell me things that you don't mean

"Love", love is just a word
A used up tone
Unless it's heartfelt
"Love", love is just a noun
An empty sound
Unless it's heartfelt

Love, love is still around
It can be found
It can be heartfelt
Love, love is more than word
When it's meant to be heard
Love can make you heartfelt
