This romance is fading
I'm tired of complaining
Every single move you make
Ends up being a big mistake
You constantly embarass me
Infront of friends and family
But i'm not quite ready to let go
If we rewind and start again,
Will things be any different?
Our love sometime will start and end,
Will it go on if we try again?

If we could rewind all that's happened
I'd still make all the same mistakes
I've tried my hardest since we started
I'd do the same if we replayed the tape

I'm stll remember
The first thing
I loved about you
But can your smile save our love

From the problems i speak of
If we rewind and start again,
Will things be any different?
Our love sometime will start and end,
Will it go on if we start again?

If we could rewind all that's happened
I'd still make all the same mistakes
I've tried my hardest since we started
I'd do the same if we replayed the tape

Instead of rewind
I'd like to remind
You of all the good times that we've seen
And if you're still sore
Try fastforward
And see how empty your life will be without me
Without me
Without me
