our hearts
beat like murder and saints with yellow tape veins and sweet intentions but the sweetest intentions don't promise redemption and in your eyes only pretty on the outside
only pretty on the outside I see skin and ink tangled like loose knots tied too tight in the sheets of this ship going down

So this is what it's like when love is gone and all that's left behind is body parts and flashing lights and this is what it's like when loose knots tie too tight

for the last time
