lately baby I've been thinking that your drinking isn't worth the fight you won't even last the night hate me, hate me you should hate me if you knew the things I've done you'd die just a little bit inside cuz I've been thinking you were faking all this time and I've been writing the saddest lines and nothing I could say would come out right (we hold on to)

didn't want it, didn't mean it you don't want it, I'd repeat it all the things I thought I told you stay until this record's over play me, play me, you don't blame me when all I am just isn't good enough you should never call it love

cuz I've been thinking you were faking all this time

(we hold on to)

you be the fall and I'll be the lift when regret plays out in the form of a riff to the beat of my heart and the feel of your hits when there's nothing to say it sounds just like this cuz we hold on to what we want to and let go of all that we need to we hold on to what we want to
