{Verse 1}

When you feel so close to some resolve,
You write the words that you're writing for,
But your courage gets dissolved,
Into what, I don't know.

{Hook}

When you feel that way again,
You have to stop your thinking,
And think of what you're here for,
And let the rest of your feelings go.

{Chorus}

And you've got to find your balance,
You've got to realize,
You've got to try to find what's right before your eyes,
oh.
And if you find you've fallen,
And all your grace is gone,
Just scream for me and I'll be what you're falling on,
ooh.

When you feel so close to some resolve,
You say the things that you're standing for,
Don't let your courage get dissolved,
'Cause it's then that the fear grows,

{Chorus}

And you've got to find your balance,
You've got to realize,
You've got to try to find what's right before your eyes,
oh.
And if you find you're fallin',
And all your grace is gone,
Just scream for me and I'll be what you're falling on,
ooh.
Woah, woah.

Just give me the word and I will be there,
Just tell me the words that I've been living for,
Just tell me the things that I've been fighting for,
It's do or die, this is either or,

Just give me the word and I will be there. [x2]

{Chorus}

You've got to find your balance,
You have to realize,
You've got to try to find what's right before your eyes,
oh.
And if you find you're fallin',
And all your grace is gone,
Just scream for me and I'll be what you're falling on.

You've got to find your balance,
You've got to realize,
You've got to try to find what's right before your eyes,
oh.
And if you find you're fallin',
And all your grace is gone,
Just scream for me and I'll be what you're falling on,
ooh.
