Are the sins getting staler
Does every moment move past you
Or does it feel like forever
And shouldn't you be laughing too?

Take a look how they found you
Take a look what they've done to you now
So what was it they wanted, sullen and haunted?
If only you saw it coming

How far down would you fall
If you never came up again?
'Cause you're so sick of it all
And you want to change everything

Just how deep would you go
To see through it all?
If you could consume her

Would you say you were finding your way out?
Is anything coming clearer
Smashing your mirror?
Still you can see you're guilty

How far down would you fall
If you never come up again?
'Cause you're so sick of it all
And you want to change everything

Just how deep would you go
To see through it all?
If you could consume her

Coming closer, my composure
Turning inside out in her
Calling home, all alone
You can call, I won't answer

Any question in my head
Remains until you feel the same
Never telling how I felt is
All I ever cared about

How far down would you fall
If you never came up again?
'Cause you're so sick of it all
And you want to change everything

Someone somewhere should know
If you wanna come back around
Just how deep would you go
To see through it all?

To see through it all
To see through it all
It all, it all
