It'll always be the same
This world won't change for me
And I'll need to give up some things
But with something missing is what I will be
If I lose too much
Well I'll take it back
And paint this world into our color

It doesn't hurt to stay alive
It doesn't seem weird for another sun to arrive
It's not always right to trying to stay apart
Maybe it's better to leave things the way they are
Because nothing's too special
It'll always be the same
Always the same

This world would stay the way it is
Unless I try to do something about it
But a lazy me is what makes me real
If I don't feel
Well I take this back
And paint this world into our color

It doesn't hurt to stay alive
It doesn't seem weird for another sun to arrive
It's not always right to trying to stay apart
Maybe it's better to leave things the way they are
Because nothing's too special
It'll always be the same
Always the same

It doesn't hurt to stay alive
It doesn't seem weird for another sun to arrive
It's not always right to trying to stay apart
Maybe it's better to leave things the way they are
Because nothing's too special
It'll always be the same
Always the same

And I believed that darkness
Was opposed to lightness
But now I know that they can stay

In this world

I may not change my actual life
But I can change how I see things

In this world
It doesn't hurt to stay alive
Because in anyways tomorrow is the same
Always the same
