All your problems have moved aside
All these lies you need to hide
And this feeling that breaks you inside
Something, something is missing
Something, something is gone

Where's your heart?
Where's your heart?
How did it start?
How did this all fall apart?
Where's your heart?
Where's your heart?
Has it fallen apart?
You must have lost it
When you broke one's heart

And all the breaths you take to calm down
All this time it's been around
And this feeling that touches the ground
Something, something, something is missing
Something, something is gone

And where have you dropped it?
You're lost in this mind
And there's no way to stop it
Once you're heart is gone
You keep on caring what's behind
There's no way to stop it

But where's your heart?
Where's your heart?
How did it start?
How did this all fall apart?
Where's your heart?
Where's your heart?
Has it fallen apart?
You must have lose it
When you broke one's heart

Where's your heart?
Where's your heart?

How did you start?
How did this all fall apart?
Where's your heart?
Where's your heart?
You've been missing one
Since when you broke my heart
