Well I lay down
With no will to show you who I am
I just walk away
'cause I'm tired of seeing how messed up you are It's rotten, so jealous I searched and kept my distance
Yes, I did
'cause it's not worth
Fighting against all of you losers

It seems like I'm giving up
It seems I am lost in time
It seems my term expired
If you paid some attention you'd see I might lose my mind
Well I woke up
I've had enough of your unfinished business
I won't resist
'cause that's what you want but I won't play a part in your game
It's easier to change and be a stranger to ourselves
Yes, it is
But it's not worth
Wrecking my health and my precious youth
