As we were standing there, demonic spirits were drifting
In the sky
As we were watching them, bloody tears were falling from
Our eyes
We were scared, feel like we all fall down
We were cursed as we were starring at the dawn
We were dancing in the twilight and laughing at each Other
As we were practicing our deadly spells, we were throwing Balls of fire
We were stealing and tried to reanimate bodies from the Cemetery
One of them struck against us and infected you with Corpse poisoning
We tried to play with forbidden sciences and we were Punished for our sins
You became a living dead and stuck a battle axe into my Head
But when I was between life and death, I knew this is
Bitter end
So I tore out my cursed sick heart, and gave it to you
You started to eat it like a hungry ghoul Though I died without a heart, but you followed me to Hell
In that last moment I remembered those days, when we were Friends:
We were young necromancers
It was around late december
... from hell I still remember
