Still to far from me
Only now in real life
Guess iÂ´ve never been this free
Guess itÂ´s time to realise
When you left your life collection
Was it planned for me to see
And i took the first moment
Just to not let it be

And i blame, i blame it all
It all on me

There was something in that mind
Something wanished and gone
And i just couldnÂ´t follow
What was going on
When i tore apart your picture
It was just cause it was old
But i put it all together
Just like i was told
I never pictured that about you
My home is no more immune
You brought me my enemy
Just like i told you not to
And nothing in this world
Can wash it clean
And i donÂ´t wanna be able
To see how that could have been

And i blame, i blame it all
It all on me

Headacher, painful
Heartbraker, beautiful
So i turn out all the lights
And i sleep with open eyes
