It seems just like yesterday
When Julie showed up and took daddy away
The way that dress wore her, a fitting reminder... oh yeah!
That year everything felt so cold
Mom was so young, now she's feeling so old
No matter how she tries, she can't put it behind her

Prechorus:

I went from 8 to 18, dad went from me to her

Chorus

I remember the day and the week and the weather
The smile on your face as you walked away
I remember the part where he left us forever
At the time I thought that it was the end
Can you remember how you loved me then?

I can't stand this anymore
Haven't you changed since you walked out that door

I wonder how it'd be if you hadn't found her

Pre-chorus

Chorus

Solo

Bridge:

Let it go I will say no
I can't care anymore, I can't love anymore
I tried to hold onto something that I lost before

Chorus
