A new surprise
It gets me every time
And because of the spring
I can't do anything

And I check up on the phone
And it works how it's supposed to
There's someone outside my door
But I just keep on sleeping

And I'm waitin'

I spend my days at home
Where it all started

I trust my mind
Keep my windows closed
The late night shows
I follow every moment

And the night becomes my day
It's got a pleasant cold
When trees turns gray
They get hard to notice

And I'm waitin'

I spend my days at home
Where it all started

Don't make me cry
Don't say that it's fading
A phone call late at night
And I'll just keep on waiting

I spend my days at home
Where it all started

I spend my days at home
Where it all started
