How you're feeling?
I know you're not ok
'cause I know what you've been thinking and I know you don't wanna stay The way you look at me tells me more than your words more than all those empty words you said to me before you lost the game you play chorus

Things you're about to do really happen to you so don't regret the mess you made 'cause it's too late the game you play is true like it or not and everything you do really comes back to you And all the things we've been thru don't matter to you and after all you just can't forget the price you paid for this game you play chorus x 2
