(written by Phill McHugh)

Lord of All, of the heights

Where faith can lift the trusting heart

Lord of all, of the depths

Where fear would tear such faith apart

Lord of all, of the nations

Quick to anger, bearing arms

Lord of all, of each child

Held by it's mother safe from harm

CHORUS:

Lord of All

Of all seen and unseen things

Of the universe that sings

And calls you Lord of all

Lord of all

Of the power not to sin

You have always been

And always will be

Lord of all

Lord of all, of a peace

That we can draw with every breath

Lord of all, of provision

For each need in life and death

Lord of all, of the turnings

Of the seasons and the earth

Lord of all, of the love

That purchased man a second birth

Lord of All

Of all seen and unseen things

Of the universe that sings

And calls you Lord of all

Lord of all

Of the power not to sin

You have always been

And always will be

Lord of all
