On the left sidewalk there was a dropped thing waiting To be picked up, so I picked it up. And it happened to be

A roll of film and I couldn't see anyone around so I Saw absolutely nothing wrong to put it in my pocket.
She put it, in her pocket. Because I had nothing to do But lazy strolling around so I went to a photoshop and One hour later I gave them a little money for these photoprints.

Ah, I can tell you it was exciting to open up that bag but first

I went quite pissed of because the photographer apparently were

Not a real pro: There were some pretty flowers, of course very beautiful!

And there were some shaky pictures taken from a train or a

Car. There were surely ten pictures of houses and I thought

To myself it was stupid of me to hand in this roll and Pay for it, but in the very next moment I saw something Fairly strange: On the top of the roof wick was a flat one,

Mexican roof sat a girl with a dotted bikini HOO!And I Watched her for a very long time and I wondered if she Was aware of the cam I don't think she was. With a Closer look I discovered HEY! There's either a man or a Women on top of the roof of all of them. Very strange!
Question: Was it some kind of obsession, or just a coincidence?

Question: Was it some kind of obsession, or just a coincidence?

Answer: Absolutely the first suggestion. Well I put all this

Pictures in a line and then in two lines and then finally In five lines. Because I was playin'with them as they were some

Kinda cards. And then I put 'em in a pattern. I guess it's Some kind of obsession!
