Too late to change - we're always involved in problems that we can solve without anyones help although we're seeking shelters that won't bend for the pressure whatever that might be maybe you can stand up and tell how the story that killed som many peoples can be real I feel so disgusted when I see the things I see I never thought it was the nature of us human beings and now i feel so strange and locked up by chains but it's never to late to change to late

to change

with the same attitude that most of the people have we're going nowhere is that so fucking hard to understand or is it not if not then maybe we can stop act like rabies dogs in a cage full of hatred and confusion but that's just an illusion cause we can't change without feeling strange cause to be mean is the only thing we're seen and now we feel so confident when we're behind the backup

we have to realise or just to shut up

to late

you are the one who's threatting me with a knife bit I'm the only one to decide over my life a game is a game and you're playing it just to play can't you realize that there is no more to say
