Dear mother, I love you. I'm sorry I wasn't good enough.

Dear father, forgive me. Cause in your eyes, I just never added up.

In my heart I know I failed you, but you left me here alone.

[Chorus]

If I could hold back the rain, would you numb the pain.
Because I remember everything.

If I could help you forget, would you take my regrets.
Because I remember everything.

Dear brother, just don't hate me. For never standing by you, or being by your side.

Dear sister, please don't blame me. I only did what I thought was truly right.

It's a long and lonely road, when you know you walk alone.

[Chorus]

If I could hold back the rain, would you numb the pain.
Because I remember everything.

If I could help you forget, would you take my regrets.

Because I remember everything.

I feel like running away, I'm still so far from home.

You say that I will never change, but what the fuck do you know.

I'll burn it all down to the ground, before I let you out.

Please forgive me, I can't forgive you now.

I remember everything.

[Chorus]

If I could hold back the rain, would you numb the pain.
Because I remember everything.

If I could help you forget, would you take my regrets.
Because I remember everything.

Even though I confess, I still can't the past.

I always will remember everything.

If we could start again, would that have changed the end.

We remember everything.
