

Five Iron Frenzy "Hurricanes"

Yo toda via espero un milagro,
Yo toda via te espero a ti.
The sunlight is fading,
The longest shadows have been cast.
Like songs from a siren,

Hurricanes from the past.
And I am a failure,
Defeated every time,
So let me lie here,
A sidewalk for a shrine.

Chorus:
I am so lonely,
They say you were lonely too.
Dear God be my savior,
I wait for you.

My broken spirit,
Is trembling slow.
Park bench for a throne now,
My blanket is the snow.
And I'm being haunted,
By long forgotten dreams,
For hurricanes have,
The bluest eyes I've ever seen.

I am pining for your mercy,
For this storm to break,
Lord you are my comfort,
The hope for which I wait.
