Album: Cheeses Of Nazareth (2003) i want to see all minds set free they pledge their liberty like slaves to their deaths like awls through their ears nailed to a post they sold their souls to the things they loved most now they accuse that's why i chose... Freedom my mind is closed i've stood on their shoes you've got words, clever jargon you tell me my God is dead self-support, what a bargain you hate a book you've never read telling me i'm pushing you who's world is this, who pushes who? we've had to watch your television subject to your decisions and filled your schools we've read yours books with hate for fuel you calculate your lack of reason you burned the truth call it treason i hate this place Mind for Treason force-feeding lies but calling it freedom masking the truth to hide your dismay turn a blind eye to the death and decay but i will rebel it's treason i choose you can die by yourself but i will refuse a word of truth, to worlds of fiction i'd like to challenge your depiction of yours sould and your salvation i'd like to shake you from stagnation your ear to show allegiance to you take the nail and drive it through your god the thing that you love most yourself am i coming close? blind to see your own extinction shackled slaves must drop their chains truth and lies have no distinction or slaves will serve themselves in vain
