She submits and she dominates
She gets out of her head
As she talks to the ceiling
You can hear what she said

She said, "That's the difference between us
That's the difference between us
That's the difference between us
You see, that's the difference between us"

She said, "I like your theory
But it won't pass no tests
Watching the watcher
Getting shot in his chest"

That's the difference between us
That's the difference between us
That's the difference between us
That's the difference between us

She said, "Do you think there's some system
That controls and affects?
You see I believe in nothing
And you're convinced of the hex"

I believe in nothing
And you're convinced of the hex

That's the difference between us
That's the difference between us
That's the difference between us
You see, that's the difference between us
