What I'm thinking is so delicate
If I breathe, you know, I'm going to lose it It's just a drop in the biggest ocean I know I've ever seen
And in a moment it's big enough to drown the whole world
This is my present to the world
And I want you to take it
This is my present to the world
Take it from me, please, please take it from me
All I know is I don't know it It's raining babies from the sky down on me Tiny drops on my windshield
And in a second it's raining, raining all over the whole
