[Incomprehensible] time travel and yes
I see that time travel really does already exist

But not through the sciences and through physics
But it exists within the power of our own words
To illuminate our own memories

And now through some subliminally hypnotic state of mind
One can see back into one's own previous life
Not to extract precise minute details
But to re inhabit [Incomprehensible] optimism

A time before any ability to reason is actually set A time before logic covers all the dimensions of our thinking

And if we're lucky we can Even dissolve back to a time of glorious Superhuman, space and time
A time when all things seem possible
