In the morning when you start your day
Do you feel yourself quite lost
In a world of countless millions
And the tide of your life got tossed
Don't think you're getting nowhere
You know we all must start
From very small beginnings
Off to a better part

In the rush and hassle of your day
When all your world seems mad
Do you look at everything you see
And know that it's not so bad
Just take your time and work it out
You know what's in your mind
From very small beginnings
Off to a better time

Take your time and work it out, then maybe you'll see
Your not wasting your time running around
Just acting a play, just finding your way
Your making it pay, you're making today

In the darkness of a brand new day
When everything's hushed and still
You can pick up everything you see
And know that it's all worthwhile
The dark long night is faded

It starts from small beginnings
Moves to every part

Take your time and work it out, then maybe you'll see
Your not wasting your time running around
Just acting a play, just finding your way
Your making it pay, you're making today

In the morning when you start your day (4x)

In the morning when you start your day
Do you feel yourself quite lost
In a world of countless millions

And the tide of your life got tossed
Don't think you're getting nowhere
You know we all must start
From very small beginnings
Off to a better part
