Maybe nobody told you about this life
Maybe nobody answered your questions, why?
Simple revelations they come in time
Those liars told us things would all be fine

Born out of whack
Give him something possible
You thought
It would've mattered?

Not likely to change things, we've come too far
Where innocent young kids are put behind bars
But it's an easy decision banished so far
You're not as civil as you think you are

Born out of whack
Give him something possible
You thought
It would've mattered?

Born out of whack
Give him something possible
You thought
It would've mattered anyway?

No

You deserve to know why?
You say we're all born out of whack
You say we're all born out of whack
You say we're all born out of whack
You say we're all born out of whack

Well, don't act so surprised now
There's been a lot going on Since you realized that we're all just kids
And we're trying to get along, so answer one thing

Are you gonna stay inside, are you gonna stay inside of our minds?
Are you gonna stay inside, are you gonna stay inside of our mind?

Are you gonna stay inside, are you gonna stay inside?
Are we all born wrong?

Born out of whack
Give him something possible
You thought
It would've mattered?

Born out of whack
Give him something possible
You thought
It would've mattered anyway?
