Well it seems as though
Everyone's been led astray far away from
From what we know, still can't find a reason or
The right words to say, it'll be okay

Wrapped up in all the things that are wrong
It's the only trial so far
As the verdict falls down you still break away

Caught up in a social degradation
You can't even see the truth
We're only half as good at personal relations
Look around and see the proof

Only a few of us go in the right direction
Even though we're singled out
It's the only thing that keeps me alive
I do what I have to do

How was I to know
Force fed corporate trials each day, every single day?
But we must grow
Echoin' the single most important thing in the way, every single day

Wrapped up in all the things that are wrong
It's the only trial so far
As the verdict falls down you still break away

Caught up in a social degradation
You can't even see the truth
We're only half as good at personal relations
Look around and see the proof

Only a few of us go in the right direction
Even though we're singled out
It's the only thing that keeps me alive
I do what I have to do
It's what I have to do

Not slipping, drifting, falling one step further from the norm

What is the norm?
Not living, longing, trying so much harder than before
What if I, what if I run far away?
Would I still be seen the same, break away?

Caught up in a social degradation
You can't even see the truth
We're only half as good at personal relations
Look around and see the proof

Only a few of us go in the right direction
Even though we're singled out
It's the only thing that keeps me alive
I do what I have to do
It's what I have to do

It's what I must do
Just to get through
It's what I want
