Nobody knows that expects us tomorrow
I'm glad that now I'm among you.
Spending the best days of the youth
With those to whom I'm precious and who is precious to me.

What I see in your eyes,
Doesn't let me to stand still here.
At present, here and now,
One huge heart beats.

I'll remember these days for ever, no one can erase them from my memory
Never it'll be possible to break off what the soul feels
What our young hearts tells us.

Every minute, as expensive as air, we're here all together, we're one family.
I'm glad that I spend my youth here, that the destiny has met our young hearts
