Everyone stares when you walk in the room
They stare when you go
You've got so much control
How could anyone say 'no'

They rarely do, that's why you're you
And why you're winning
And I don't even miss you at all
No no

Caught in the light, he would idly spin
Your skeleton ring
See it shine when you sing
To the window with no meaning

From Tennessee, your harmony
Would leave your spirit
And I don't even miss you at all
No no

Silver the shores of isles up North
Boulevards of dancing boats

You keep the old ember burning
With meadows in mind
As the coaches go by
These thoughts of you will die

They rarely do, that's why you're you
And why you're winning
And I don't even miss you at all
No no

Silver the shores of isles up North
Boulevards of dancing boats
