Somethin' in you brought out somethin' in me, that I've never been since
That part of me that was only for you,
That kind of romance
Comes only once, that kind of love
That kind of fever dance
That you love because you become someone else in an instant

Say you will, say you will give me one more chance
At least give me time to change your mind
That always seems to heal the wounds, if I can Get you to dance

Somethin' in you put a hold on my heart
It's hard to believe now Here in the place that will never be dark
I remember that place...
That kind of touch, electricity of love
That certain kind of grace
That you love because you become someone else in an instant

At least give me time to change your mind
That always seems to heal the wounds, if I can Get you to dance

Say you will, say you will give me one more chance (say you will)

At least give me time to change your mind (say you will)
That always seems to heal the wounds, if I can Get you to dance

Say you will, say you will give me one more chance (say
you will)
will)
That always seems to heal the wounds, if I can Get you to dance

Say you will, say you will give me one more chance (say
you will)
will)
That always seems to heal the wounds, if I can Get you to dance

Say you will, say you will give me one more chance (say
you will)
will)
That always seems to heal the wounds, if I can Get you to dance

Say you will, say you will give me one more chance
At least give me time to change your mind
That always seems to heal the wounds, if I can Get you to dance
