Stillness calms me while the darkness pounds outside my head
Hate surrounds my life until you bring me peace again
Your voice is all I need to keep the hurt from seeping in One last time I call your name
And you save me once again
My only love, I bleed for you
And I can't let go, no matter what I do
Your face, so sweet
I never want to see you go
As I lay there dying in your arms you weep for me

You brush a kiss against my lips, and then I'm whole again
My pain disappears as I lay with you, and we become one soul
I feel your arms close around me tight
And I know I can go on
My only love, I bleed for you
And I can't let go, no matter what I do
Your face, so sweet
I never want to see you go
