Cyberchrist

Consciousness

I see the dark inside me

And all this time I had thought myself pure

And now I see

I feel the energy rising

From the mountains to the tips of the shore

Faithless horde of hell

I am in chains

Nothing left to tell

I am to blame

Straight through hell and right into my dreams

This evil man who brought you to your knees

A world of darkness, a world of sacrifice

A world of angels, the world of cyberchrist

And in the circuits and the memories

I can still feel the chill of something

Amidst the hate and all the blasphemy

I can still hear the sound of your voice

And all the prophets of misery

Come together in this place that I call home

Amidst the wires and the silicon

I can still be free

Broken glass on the ground

The window is open and I can see the light

Straight through hell and right into my dreams

This evil man who brought you to your knees

A world of darkness, a world of sacrifice

A world of angels, the world of cyberchrist

Cyberchrist

Cyberchrist

Christ

Christ

Straight through hell and right into my dreams
This evil man who brought you to your knees
A world of darkness, a world of sacrifice
A world of angels, the world of cyberchrist
