Underneath the skin
A glittering ocean
The waves and the pulsating soil
A spine bent into perverse angles
Projected on a screen
A charming grimace
I shot my thoughts at you
Dreading the recoil's impact
The unrest of one instant and the amphorae were pulverized
Projected on a screen
The imaginary silhouettes
I plunged into the fountain's crystalline waters
Without dreading the clash with the surface
You stole from me my riches and my tremors
Projected on a screen
An anaemic body
I threw the explosive caresses
Back at the smileress
And they
Bounced
