You and I were finished
I was through with you Splitting up forever Seemed the thing to do
I said I can't stand you
With your honey touch
This time you were cheating me
One time too much Just then I remembered That a friend I knew Told me one thing
I should never do Never never change your lovers in the middle of the night
Everything may look so different in the early morning
Never never be too hasty when you're grooping in the
What you're getting into may be just a lark Keep your cool and don't change lovers when you're feeling sorta high Sorta big and high and mighty without really knowing why
Let your heat wear off a little, give your man another
And don't fall for someone else's song and dance
Sure there was this guy Right next to me
Mine just for the asking He said he would be
But to leave my man Seemed to me all too strange And I'd say that I'm glad I didn't make the change Now our life is almost Like a Paradise
Let me pass on to you
This advice
Keep your cool and don't change lovers in the middle of the night
You may feel a strong temptation, the vibrations may be right But who knows what's gonna happen, you may simply lose your cool

When you find it, you'll find out you were a fool Never never change your lovers under any midnight spell
Take it easy, slow and easy, everything will turn out well
Let the sunshine of a new day, and don't move while you're uptight
Changing lovers in the middle of the night
night
why
