So what's left to say? By now all words have been spoken
What is ther to do? Everything has already been done
Who should I fight? Everyone's been defeated
What shold I sing? By now it's already been sung Seems no matter how hard I try, I can't belong
These molds that I try to break, they are too strong
Life cannot always be wine, women and song
Seems no matter how hard I try I'm always wrong
Make your mistakes, but stay clear of the brakes
Godspeed to another world
A search on the wing is a dangerous thing
If you shitft you focus to another world
Take heed, watch what you seek
Everything's here, in other words
Who should I love? Is ther only one answer?
Where is the to go, when we've been everywhere?
Looking to get out, looking to get in and I'm caught between
Always feels like one or the other Falling to pieces , all I believe in swirling down in the drain
Seems no matter how hard I try I'm always wrong
These molds that I try to break, they are too strong
Make your mistakes, but stay clear of the brakes
Godspeed to another world
A search on the wing is a dangerous thing
If you shitft you focus to another world
Take heed, watch what you seek
Everything's here, in other words
