Another lamp with the bulb broken out
You can't see in here but I know how
I know glass is made of sand
But I see right through enough to understand
Understand

Downfall, delivery at any speed
You'll scare yourself creeping up on me
Hit myself hard in the head
Thought I can hold the heat instead
I burnt myself, I burnt myself, I burnt myself

Pick a window 'cause now you're leaving
I used to owe you but now we're even
Time is all you'll give me, I guess I'll take it
When you need someone who cares, I could freak it

Things fade away, that's what they tell
Look in the water, can't see myself so well
Hoping for a place that's safe, you got me instead
I've been waiting around all day
Just to see the shadows spread

Pick a window 'cause now you're leaving
I used to owe you but now we're even
Time is all you'll give me, I guess I'll take it
When you need someone who cares, I could freak it
Pick a window, pick a window
I used to owe you but now we're even

I've been hiding in the basement of my mind
It's cold and dark in here, just what I thought I'd find
Learned my lessons well, these stitches keeping count
Going under is the only thing that I got down

Pick a window 'cause now you're leaving
I used to owe you but now we're even
Pick a window 'cause now you're leaving
I used to owe you but now we're even

Pick a window
Pick a window

Pick a window
