The changing seasons that come and go,
Seem to color the city streets unevenly,
As time goes by.

I was gazing up to that,
Empty blue sky as I pushed aside,
The air filled with such sadness.

My dreams are so far away,
Even though they used to be so clear,
I have lost what I once held so precious to me.

The promises from that day have now been locked
away forever without a key,
Filled with memories that we wanted to forget,
But even if both you and I wake up from this dream that somehow we both seem to share,
There's no way I'll ever forget there feelings that I had
for you...

Looking through a window I tend to see,
The colors of the color of the landscape fading away,
And memories,
Are slowly coming to light.

I travel this road in my path,
I know that there's no way that I can ever turn back,
That first lie,
The last thing you wanted to hear.

I pretended to be strong,
I hid what I truly felt,
The answer from those seasons past.

So. I know that after all,
I'm too useless to do anything about it all.

I ask the answers to the questions that I know,
Everything else just builds up.

Walking around the city streets,
The lights seem to shine so brightly.

My memories keep changing more and more,
As my mind spins round and round. Uh.

So many times I forgot to hold on to my disappearing memories.

Like a sadness filled merry-go-round,
A midnight melody slow dance...

The promises from that day have now been locked
away forever without a key,
Filled with memories the that we wanted to forget,
But even if both you and I wake up from this dream that
somehow we both seem to share,
There's no way I'll ever forget there feelings that I had
for you.

They brighten my day whenever I think of you.
