I had a dream yesterday
No one had a face
But it felt like everything was in its place yeah

And I saw in this space
No one had a name
But it seemed like everyone had a place yeah

Yeah I could see
You'd never be hidden again
The sun in your face
Would never go away

I could be as much as I could
And you could be as much as you could
And some where in the middle we will meet
I would be as much as I could
And you could be as much as you could
And some where in the middle we will meet
