I wish I could hold on
I wish that I could see her
Alone

Cause she takes away the pain
She fills this empty room
Oh no

I wish I could
Bring us back those moments
Believe in you
And the things you used to say
I wish I could
Make the sun shine always
For me and you

All the things that I have done
All the things she grew to regret
Are holding us back
And every secret left a mark
Every secret wove a blanket that you used
Just to cover every mad excuse you made

Everyone in here is wrong
Everybody is looking constantly for reasons
To explain things we no longer need to now
Keep your truths away from me
Cause you re just another figment of the whole
Of a world all filled with apathy

I wish I could
Bring us back those moments
Believe in you
And the things you used to say
I wish I could
Make the sun shine always
For me and you

But now I've seen the truth
But now I've seen the truth
