If you wanna buy the sky
I'm sure the price is right
If christ is high he'll sign the dotted line
But to the ground you're tied
And if you didn't try
I'm sure your mind
Might have the chance to fly
Where angels dine and lucifer resigned.
Draw the line or bide your time
Give up the fight and you will find
Rest is on the other side.
So gasp for air, then prepare
For what comes next, beware,
I heard them decide they're taking us
Where angels cry and devils dry their eyes
Nothing will replace
Taking her away
Nothing will replace
The look on your face
Now tell me did you cross the line
Where angels die and devils lose their minds
