Why can't you see how lucky you have been? Why can't you see what lies ahead? We say it twice I guess we'll say it again. Keep going round and round it's already dead. Bur we try to mold what we can't control. Why can't you get it through your head? You should feel like me. Cause when the world falls down you'll need me eventually. You should feel like me. When it all comes down that's the way it's gonna have to be. What can you see if you never test yourself? Why don't you test yourself and maybe then you'd see. All this talking never did a thing for me so let me turn you on© you might find we agree
