Do you ever really wanna touch me. I could show you things you won't believe. But you say no oh oh it'll feel too good. And you'll never go back like you should. Come on girl you know you wanna it'll be alright and you know your gonna be completely satisfied. (it feel good cause it's wrong) Your daddies girl and I think that's pretty cool. So young and fresh just barely getting out of school. And all your friends say you better stay away from me. But they cannot see. That I was made for you I know. I'll always be true I know. I'll make everything all right for me and you. I know you don't like sneaking off in the night. And if your daddy knew there would be a fight. Cause it's no secret how he feels about who I am. The life I lead is not of a true working man. But I know I can prove it to you with a touch. Of the love that your aching for oh so much. (you know you need it now).
