(A. Nicula/E. Bojescu)

She looks always at the sky
She doesn't want to look at me 'cos I
I told her "You'll never find your dream"
She told me "I'm waiting now for my king"
So is life and so is she
All the time she's looking for her dream
I told her "You'd better look at me"
She insists that she can't see anything
Is beating your heart when I'm near ?
You said the life's hard I disagree, yeah
One by one your thoughts collide

The earth you don't see by reason of your pride
I told you "You'd better give it up
And try to just come to a stop"
In the long run keep in mind
I can be your dream you always try to find
I tell you please open up your heart
And let me your feelings whip up
CHORUS REPEAT
