My friend you're worn out and aching now
Your life stretched tight and breaking now
And you seem to find
Every morning's like a mountain you must climb

Forget her, shake her free
Like a leaf from a tree
You must let her go, it's hard I know

But tomorrow is another road that leads
Away from here, to the first horizon
Forget her

My friend you could open windows now
Let cool breezes through your life somehow
'Cos there's people out there
Other people crying, dying, trying to get somewhere

Forget her, let her go
With the ebb and flow
Of the passing tide
Now she's fortunes bride

And the days line up like cards
And you can deal yourself a chance
While the wheel's still turning
Forget her

Well, I'm so good at giving advice
But I know when you look at my life
It seems crazy

But I can stand aside
And I can see with different eyes
Sometimes more clearly

Forget her till she seems
Like a face in a dream so far away
She will fade away

'Cos tomorrow is another road that leads
Away from here, to the first horizon

Forget her, she has forgotten you
What more to do, forget her
