Once in my life, I got it right, I hope you understand
Paying the price, drinking the wine of all that this Life demands

Look in these eyes, you never find the love that you Thought you had

'Cause you walk like you're lost, talk like you're Found, feels like you're underhand

You're spinning like you're out of control
'Cause you lost your heart and you lost your soul
And you can't give what you don't own
Can you still love, still love?

Lost on a wave, time and a place that never comes back
Again
Sun on my face, blind in the haze, but now I see
Straight again
Out in cold, frost in my bones, you're screaming out my Name
True colors shown, your covers been blown, I'm making
My escape

You're spinning like you're out of control
'Cause you lost your heart and you lost your soul
And you can't give what you don't own
Can you still love, still love?

You're spinning like you're out of control
'Cause you lost your heart and you lost your soul
And you can't give what you don't own
Can you still love, still love?
