She's got Jesus on her shirt and 'round her neck
There's a tattoo of an angel on her back
She's scuffed her knees but she's never said a prayer
She'll cross herself then finger through her hair

You're too lost in yourself
You're too stuck in your ways
You're too lost in yourself
You're too broken to break

And you'll rescue someone else to save yourself
You try to love but you love what you can't help
And you call yourself just to hear your voice
But no one ever answers through the noise

You're too lost in yourself
You're too stuck in your ways
You're too lost in yourself
You're too broken to...

'Cause you're too lost in yourself
You're too stuck in your ways
You're too lost in yourself
You're too broken to break
