Look for the lining in the silver sky
Look for the man in the moon but he's retired now.
You say you're higher than you been before
You say you're lower than you ever thought you'd get.

If I do, if I don't
Live my life, there'll be no tomorrow
I'm living for today, for today

You come, you go,
You go round and round and round and round
You come, and you go
You go round and round and round and round
You do, no you don't,
You go round and round and round and round again

Buy me something with a silver coin
Maybe there's a social club you could join, you could join yeah
Look for the man who lives inside
Look for God and the secrets you will find there.

If I do, if I don't
Live my life, there'll be no tomorrow
I'm living for today, for today

You come, and you go,
You go round and round and round and round
You come, and you go
You go round and round and round and round
You do, no you don't,
You go round and round and round and round again

You come, you go,
You go round and round and round and round
You come, and you go
You go round and round and round and round
You do, no you don't,
You go round and round and round and round
Round and round and round and round
Round and round and round and round again
