He said there's nothing more that I wanna say
She said that's okay I love you anyway
He said why cant you see the things that you do
She said whats wrong I did them all for you

I guess something had to change
Cause to many times were off
I know that when she acted strange
I'm sorry would have been enough

She spent those nights asleep on his floor
No matter what she always wanted more
He never knew the reasons why she cried
I love you never kept her satisfied

I guess something had to change
Cause to many times were off
I know that when she acted strange

I'm sorry would have been enough

A sorry was enough
When people stop and stare
She thought it went her way
She though he wouldn't care
But something had to change

He asked what did I do to make you lie
She held the tears and never answered why
He shook his head in turn and walked away
Knowing somehow she wanted him to stay

I guess something had to change
Cause to many times were off
I know that when she acted strange
I'm sorry would have been enough
I'm sorry would have been enough
