I swear I've been here before
I've walked up and down this lonely corridor
I've heard these words countless times
But still I can stand here and look at you
As you pass the same old lines
I've been alone
I've petrified my heart To solid stone
But still I can hurt, but I can't cry
I've wanted to so much, I wonder why
And I'm not surprised I find I can't believe
Anything you've said to me
Anything you told me that you feel
I find this breakup unreal

But I know how to hurt
I've been down this road a thousand times
I've been alone
I've petrified my heart to solid stone
But still I can hurt
But I can't cry
I've wanted to so much, I wonder why
And I'm not surprised I find I can't believe
Anything you've said to me
Anything you told me that you feel
I find this breakup unreal
But I know how to hurt
I've been down this road a thousand times
