

For Felix "Leaning Towards Forever"

Visit "Leaning Towards Forever" on MotoLyrics.com

600 days ago was a good day to be me Fast times had settled down when I realized I could be Here falling for you Long drives to nowhere consumed nights that I will always hold so close to me The stars would always seem to shine much brighter a song that summons burning lighters To sway above the crowd I've never been so proud But now that you're gone I look back on those days and wonder why I could have ever let you down With this one last try I look back wondering how long we last
This time I'm leaning towards forever
Phone calls at awkward timings

I prayed that if you felt the same you'd talk to me and then you'd see I've grown a lifetime since we were together thinking how I'd be a better man for you I'll see this through Cause now that you're gone I look back on those days and wonder why I could have ever let you down
With this one last try I look back wondering how long
we last
This time I'm leaning towards forever
Now that you're gone
I look back on our times together it seemed so right and I know that if you came back we'd be better this time help fill the gaps of my life

Visit For Felix page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.