We got dizzy off whatever made us shine
In airports chasing plains with sore heads full of 'bad goodbyes'
Melburne
Meet at sundown
Sydney
I rub my eyes
Crossing rivers on crocodile smiles 'til they get us right

Flick on the daylights
Put a palm to my brow and turn them to sunrise
It's fuzzy sometimes when we're striking midnight
more like a batsmen
Than a match
Tumble too downhill to plant the flags
Flick on the daylights

If i entertain you would you applaud?
Throw roses to the stage or place them by my headstone
Melburne
Meet at sundown
Sydney
I rub my eyes
I'm only your star 'til i burtn up better that than fade out
Flick on the daylights
Put a palm to my brow and turn them to sunrise
It's fuzzy sometimes when we're striking midnight
more like a batsmen
Than a match
Tumble too downhill to plant the flags
Flick on the daylights

Having too good a time today to think about tomorrow Brothers and sisters I'm feeling your sorrow in ways you can't imagine
I robbed the sort of banks they'd get baptized in to fgeel the buzz
Of being born again
Flick on the daylights
Put a palm to my brow and turn them to sunrise
It's fuzzy sometimes when we're striking midnight

more like a batsmen
Than a match
Tumble too downhill to plant the flags
Flick on the daylights

Flick on the daylights
(Flick on the daylights)
It's fuzzy sometimes
(It's fuzzy sometimes)
More like a batsmen than a match
Tumble too downhill to plant the flags
